Homemakers Review Year's Fine Projects

Rev. William G. Frank, recently became rector at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Hickman, Christ Church at Columbus and Trinity Church in Fulton, was officially ordained as a member of the Episcopal clergy in an impressive ceremony held at St. Paul's Church in Hickman Saturday morning, October 4, at 10 o'clock before a large audience, including diocesan dignitaries, members of the Fulton congregation, relatives and friends of the Frank family and local parishioners.

The imposing altar of St. Paul's was beautifully decorated with red roses and floor baskets of garden flowers stood at other points in the chancel.

The service began with an inspiring sermon "On this Rock" by the Right Reverend Charles Clingman, Bishop of the Louisville Diocese. This was followed by the ordination ceremony conducted by Bishop Clingman who was assisted by the Rev. John M. McCormick, Jr., of Louisville, presider; the Rev. Hughes Garvin of Paducah, epistoler; and the Rev. Custis Fletcher of Paducah, litant. Miss Helen Tyler of this city was organist for the occasion.

Communion followed the ordination. Following the benediction, a delicious ham dinner was served at the near-by parish house for visiting clergymen and Rev. and Mrs. Frank and their respective families and out of town friends. At the parish house artistic arrangements of marigolds yellow dahlias and lupines graced the dimly-lit tables.

Among the guests were Bishop Clingman and Rev. McCormick of Louisville; Rev. Garvin and Rev. Fletcher of Paducah; Mr. and Mrs. William G. Frank, Sr.; Mrs. Louise Frank, Mrs. J. M. Califf and daughter, Miss Charlotte Califf and Mrs. E. P. Brice and daughter, Miss Kate Brice, all of Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reed, Jr. and Mrs. L. A. Clifton, and others of Fulton.

NEWS PRINTS

For the Fulton County "Eisen-crats" (Democrats for Eisenhower) would like to take the opportunity of giving an example of some fancy double-talking by Ike as reported by the Courier-Journal. The tongue-in-cheek General has been doing some pretty good juggling on his platform but these five-star generalities reported by him make us smile a little. For instance:

- U. S. Help for Schools without "Federal Aid."
- Tax cuts without retarding defense.
- Korean Victory without starting World War III.
- Federal Medical Aid to the Public without "Socialized Medicines."
- Bi-partisan foreign policy without Democratic muddling.

Sounds like dear Ike is for the people and against the public and that he has a platform of geographic flexibility. He's completely forgetting that newspapers have a nasty habit of reporting his speeches and that folks in one part of the country unfortunately know what he's saying in another part of the nation.

But to get off the heavy political thinking (?) we are amused again at the quick thinking little mind of Betty McDade. In school the other day they were discussing the definition of the word "extra." In language that they could understand it was decided that extra meant "in addition to a spare." When asked to make a sentence with the word extra, Betty carefully penned:

"Spare, Spare, read all about it!"

Homemaking is a true profession with constant "on-the-job training", the 181 ladies at the 24th Annual Homemakers Day at Hickman Wednesday were told. "Homemaking is the greatest influence in America today toward making a good wife, a good mother and a better citizen in your community", Miss Leone Gillet one of the principal speakers for the day said. Miss Gillet, charming and convincing in her talk outlined five points of importance for making a good Homemaker.

Eagerly anticipated each year by the hundreds of women who are members of the Homemakers groups in this county the meeting was enthusiastic from every point of view and each left with a determination to make their annual reports next year reflect the greater work they intend to do. Spearheading the program of homemaking in this county is Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Berta McLeod, who seemed well pleased with the tremendous work done by the women in this county last year.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR HOMEMAKERS

New officers elected to serve the Homemakers of Fulton County for next year are as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Joe Lewis Atwill; Recreation Leader, Mrs. W. B. Sowell; Clothing leader, Mrs. L. C. Brown; Food leader, Mrs. Clem Atwill; Landscape leader, Mrs. R. E. Brasefield; Crafts leader, Mrs. Martha Rice; Home Furnishings, Mrs. James Clay Binkley and Home Management leader, Mrs. Cecil Burnette.

Mrs. Paul Hornsby was chairman of the nominating committee. The office of president did not come up for re-election this year.

Mrs. Patterson Scores Again in Review Of Furman Book

The name of Mrs. J. H. Patterson on any program is the assurance of great enjoyment to any group, and at the 24th Annual Meeting of the Fulton County Homemakers, her billing was especially true. Mrs. Patterson interviewed Bess Furman's latest book "White House Profile." The book is the story of the various presidents and their ladies who have occupied the White House and to take the listener from the administration of John Adams to the present occupants would seem a tiresome job. But not so with Mrs. Patterson or her listeners.

Mrs. Patterson, without notes, or script opened the review with fascinating sidelights on the presence of Mrs. John Adams in the executive mansion and ended with the present occupants. It was no easy task to digest the voluminous edition and bring forth the most interesting stories of the people who lived in the White House from the time it was built, burned, rebuilt and renovated.

It is no misuse of the English language to say that Mrs. Patterson is the most talented book reviewer in the Nation today and she accomplishes full well the intent of the reviewer to make the listener want to read the book.

The program opened at ten o'clock with registration at the First Methodist Church in Hickman. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Harold Copeland, president and group singing led by Mrs. W. B. Sowell. A devotion-al was offered by the pastor of the church, Rev. Lowell B. Council, which was followed by another selection of group singing.

The roll was called, the minutes of the 1951 meeting were read and the treasurer's report was made which brought the group up to the highlight of the meeting when the reports of the various clubs were made in the form of nursery rhymes. The unusually clever skit was prepared by Mrs. Cecil Burnette and while the members listened attentively to the playlet with the greatest enjoyment they also learned of the work being done by each of the clubs. The skit was a very novel way to present the club reports.

Following Miss Gillet's talk the members enjoyed a delicious dinner served by the WSCS of the Methodist Church. And after lunch an organ recital was given by Miss Marguerite Luten, organist for the church. Mrs. Joe Brandon, District director gave a report of the various meetings she had attended and urged women to become interested in seeking state offices.

Following a book review by Mrs. J. H. Patterson the meeting closed with the group singing "My Old Kentucky Home."

"Not For Sale" Hangs On Lovely Items At Annual Day

"They're not for sale," was the reply often heard when the beautiful handcraft exhibits were viewed at the Homemakers Annual Day meeting at Hickman Wednesday. Exquisite braided and hand-hooked rugs, baskets, aluminum trays, dresses and a score of other items were on display at the meeting . . . but only to see.

The exhibits represented hours and hours of work on the part of the ladies and were a wonderful indication of the kind of work being done all over the county at homemaker meetings.

Following his talk he will visit in down-town Fulton and later return to Democratic Headquarters over Irby's Fashion Shop. Al T. Owens, county chairman said that a huge crowd is expected and is shooting toward the "1000 Mark" audience. He said however, that perhaps a larger crowd will be in attendance. Governor Wetherby is a forceful, and convincing speaker and will not only speak of the Democratic administration's progress, but also of the record of Senator Tom Underwood who is the Democratic nominee for the United States Senate.

FULTON FARM IS DISTRICT WINNER

The 154 acre hill farm that won the Fulton County Pasture Contest was also selected as the district winner. This hill farm which is located near Cayce, Kentucky was set up under a "fertilization as you can afford it" program in 1946, in an effort to produce more pasture for a larger part of the year through a more intense fertilization program. The needed farm grains are produced on a small acreage of the best land also by heavy fertilization.

The pastures on this farm consist of Ky. 31 Fescue Ladino Clover, Kobe Lespedeza, and red clover in various combinations.

This farm has furnished abundant grazing for 102 head of Hereford cattle even during the past dry summer.

The complete fertilization program based on soil tests has proven increasingly profitable even to the point that it has increased to four times the amount applied in 1946.

The secret to more and longer grazing seasons is more and greater fertilization according to Mr. Shuck and Mr. Wilson.

Christmas In October Reaches Across The Oceans

The spirit of Fulton has no geographic boundary. To the far corners of the earth its warmth and its hospitality are known. Former presidents speak its name in reverence, and more than that the inhabitants of a little village in far off India offers its daily prayers for its long life and happiness. For in India there is another Fulton, not only in spirit, but in name too.

And the Methodist Church of Fulton is its supporter, its benefactor and its staff of life. It all started back in 1949 when the former pastor, Dr. Walter E. Mischke contacted the head of the Delhi, India, Annual Conference asking for an assignment for the local church to provide funds for a village in that country. The church well knew the problems of the inhabitants and the abject need for the Indian Villages. Poverty, illiteracy, disease, superstition, bad religion and oppression combined to make the people miserable. Knowing this, the spirit of Fulton rested uneasily until something could be done for the suffering mankind of that country.

As always the local people did something about it. And as in many instances they found that where in the background was some world-wide project to alleviate the greatest sufferings of mankind. When Brother Mischke wrote to Bishop J. W. Pickett in Delhi he learned that the Bishop was a former Kentuckian so that the request of the local church to do something for the villagers was a welcome, though not completely surprising to the kindly man who headed the Methodist Church in that country. Brother Mischke wrote Bishop Pickett:

"It makes us feel you are 'homefolks' to learn that you are a fellow Kentuckian. We became interested in the Village Center project because it represents a three-fold ministry and would seem to include children, young people and adults. The corresponding age groups in our Church, when they know about their friends in India, will make greater interest in helping them. Our plan is to provide both the $1500 and the $400 maintenance. And they have!

And so it was that on Wednesday night the members of the Methodist Church, in a program led by the Intermediate and the Senior Methodist Young People's groups gathered in the basement of the Church and celebrated "Christmas in October." Completely with a Christmas tree, gaily decorated, and the singing of Christmas songs the villagers in Fulton, India were gathered in spirit to join their friends here in celebrating the birth of the Christ Child.

The voices of the children and the grown-ups joined to forget October's bright blue weather and substitute a wintry scene, snowy and joyous. The hands and hearts of both Fultons were joined in a feeling of brotherhood and understanding. On Christmas Day in Delhi the more than 270 presents brought Wednesday night and the $56 in cash will make a different kind of holiday for the Indian villagers who knew the greatest poverty before the warmth of Fulton sped across the lands and the oceans to say "Merry Christmas."

Many of the leaders in the adult groups together with the pastor and his wife joined with the children to make the Christmas in October party a success. Their names for the record will be omitted, for to their neighbors in India they were as one who will make their Christmas in December a reality.

Summing up the work of the church here are the words of Bishop Pickett who wrote Brother Mischke:

"As a Kentuckian serving God in India as missionary and Bishop since 1910 I rejoice in this prospect of help from fellow Kentuckians. In order to get to India I had to transfer to the Northern Church, but Union has brought us together, thank God. By this gift you will be entering a rich partnership. Your representatives will serve God while you sleep."

Mr. Farmer... Consider Voting Record of GOP On Farm Benefits... Then Decide Your Vote

We'd like for the hundreds of farmers, who are our valued subscribers, to do some serious thinking about the election in November, for the result of that election may make a tremendous difference in your lives. In this editorial we will not do any urging for you to vote for any specific candidate. We merely ask that you read this editorial in its entirety and then make your own valued decision.

Governor Adlai E. Stevenson reminded farmers in a recent speech at Fort Dodge, Iowa, that the agricultural programs of the past 30 years were enacted by the Democratic Party over bitter Republican opposition.

Stevenson pointed out to his large rural audience that, in terms of purchasing power, farmers are earning four times as much today as they were 20 years ago.

The Governor also recalled the heart-breaking scenes on American farms during the depths of the depression which began in 1929, when Herbert Hoover sat in the White House and the GOP dominated Capitol Hill.

Stevenson said that the land making up the very airport being dedicated on the day he spoke at Fort Dodge was being foreclosed in 1933. It was saved by the Democratic Party's corn loan program, the forerunner of today's farm parity price system started by President Franklin D. Roosevelt within two weeks after he took office in that bleak March of 1933.

"A friend told me about an experience of Leo Martin then a farmer near Dubuque—now sheriff of Dubuque County—who sent a carload of sheep to the Chicago stockyards in the depression days," Stevenson went on to say.

"They sold for a price which did not equal the shipping costs. So he was billed for $18—his loss after selling a carload of sheep. Leo wrote back: 'I don't have the $18, but I've got some more sheep if you want them.'"

GOP Opposition

Stevenson stated that Republican opposition to Democratic farm programs began in 1933 and still continues today. Only last June more than half of the Republican members of the U. S. House of Representatives voted against extending 90 per cent of parity legislation.

Stevenson said "farmers everywhere will be interested in a recent interview with Senator Taft in which he says he 'believes that General Eisenhower... will be for a flexible farm support program after the present two-year agreement for 90 per cent parity is over.' Senator Taft has, as you know, established himself as the greatest living authority on what General Eisenhower really thinks..."

Republican Record

The Governor also recalled that four years ago the Republican-controlled 80th Congress nearly wrecked the whole price support program by forbidding the Commodity Credit Corporation to acquire facilities for storing crops.

Stevenson quickly dealt with 1952 Republican campaign charges that there was no shortage of grain storage facilities, by pointing out that right in Webster county, where he was speaking, "farmers piled their corn outdoors where they could not get loans."

"Now let's examine a little more of the record," continued the Governor.

"House Republicans voted against the original Agricultural Adjustment Act nearly 2 to 1.

"They voted against the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act—3 to 1.

"They voted against the Triple A, which is still our basic price support legislation, 5 to 1.

"They voted against parity payments, 7 to 1 in 1939.

"They voted to kill crop insurance, 16 to 1, and against expanding rural electric power facilities, 3 to 1 in 1943.

"They voted to kill the farm ownership programs, 2 to 1 in 1947.

"That same year they voted to kill the agricultural conservation program, 12 to 1.

"In 1949 a majority of House Republicans voted against the rural telephone service program. They called it socialistic and a threat to free enterprise, just what they said about REA years before.

"In 1949 they voted against price supports on perishables, 40 to 1.

"In 1951 they voted against expanding rural electric power, 9 to 1.

"That same year the Senate Republicans

"voted against the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act—3 to 1.

"They voted against the Triple A, which is still our basic price support legislation, 5 to 1.

"They voted against parity payments, 7 to 1 in 1939.

"They voted to kill crop insurance, 16 to 1, and against expanding rural electric power facilities, 3 to 1 in 1943.

"They voted to kill the farm ownership programs, 2 to 1 in 1947.

"That same year they voted to kill the agricultural conservation program, 12 to 1.

"In 1949 a majority of House Republicans voted against the rural telephone service program. They called it socialistic and a threat to free enterprise, just what they said about REA years before.

voted to cripple crop insurance, 2 to 1. And they also voted to cripple the conservation program."

Support Prices

"Can you trust a party that has voted consistently against your programs?" asked the Governor. "Can you trust a party that votes against them and now for a few short weeks before election, pretends to be for them?"

"Can you trust a party with a clear record of obstruction—but empty handed when it comes to constructive ideas?"

A man also on this year's Democratic ticket, and whom many of you know quite well, or should, is Tom Underwood, who has been in the Nation's Congress fighting your battles for several years. He told us on his recent visit here that he wished it were possible to talk to each of you about the foregoing statistics, but if he fails to do so because of the time element, may we be privileged to urge your careful consideration of the record of the Democratic party as it directly concerns you... Mr. Farmer.

Oil Industry Spends Billions For Progress

There's an old axiom to the effect that progress is only what you make it. The moral, of course, is that you are the master of your own destiny; and that if you are going to "make progress," you have to get out and do things—and keep on doing them.

What brings this to mind is the fact that Oil Progress Week is being observed by the nation's oil men October 12-18. The thousands of oil companies of all sizes which comprise this vast industry, with its 2,000,000 workers and its traditional adherence to the principles of free enterprise and competition, have been "doing things" consistently for 93 years. They have compiled a record of progress which gives positive meaning to this old axiom.

An example of the way modern oil men are "making progress" is the tremendous expansion program which has been underway since the end of World War II. To assure the American people of an abundance of petroleum today, and to prepare for their demands of tomorrow, the oil industry builds, expands, modernizes and develops as fast as men, money and materials can make it possible.

Sermonette of the Week -

RUSSIAN CAPTIVE WRITES ABOUT SLAVE LABOR

(The following letter, written by a German Nun captive of the Communists in Russia, was smuggled through the Iron Curtain into the American occupied Zone of Austria. For fear of reprisal, the name of the captive cannot be given.)

AT LAST I have an opportunity to give you some sign that I am alive. It is such a long time since we were carried off to Russia. How often do I cry out: "Do not forget us, pray for us, help us. We are abandoned and destitute, plunged into unspeakable misery."

It is horrible what we are enduring here, 1500 of us Sisters. We are treated as beasts, driven to work with blows. If one of us collapses, she is left by the roadside to die. A guard may beat one of us to death without a sign of emotion.

AT FIRST WE helped build a bridge over the Dnieper—heavy work for men. We were forced to pull and drag the steel girders across the wide river. Whoever collapsed got the whip. Whoever did not get up again was brutally kicked by the guard into the river. Long exhausting days of hard work and hardly more to eat than a piece of soggy bread and watered soup. Many of the Sisters died during the work here, and we envy them.

Now we are working in a mine, a long day underground in stifling air, and here many have also died. If only we had someone to give us courage, to support and help us a little. But there is no one.

We are completely lost and lonely! No Sunday, no day of rest. Nothing but the endless working day, hunger, beatings, a pitifully cold barracks, a hard cot without warmth and full of filth and vermin. We ourselves are clothed in rags. We are no longer human beings....

IT IS SO very hard to have no hope to see no star. Mother, can you understand now why sometimes the question comes, "How can God permit this? Why so much suffering? How much longer?" And then a black despair grips us. It goes beyond our strength, but despite everything we put our confidence in God and trust in His Providence.

We all wear a cross on our breasts, and in the midst of our sorrow and loneliness we find our refuge in Him—Him to Whom we want so much to remain faithful unto death. But pray for us! Pray, pray.

What we daily go through cannot be described, and yet we believe that God is permitting all this sorrow for the good of our souls. I cannot tell you everything—I dare not tell you how we women are dishonored here, shamed, trampled upon....

OH MOTHER, I do not wish to make your heart too heavy, and I tell you but the least of our sufferings. May God look with mercy upon us poor, crushed, tortured Sisters who, despite everything, still believe in Him, and remain alive for Him in this endless death.

—Your poor child.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

Gravel voiced, Shakespeare quoting ominous John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, made an unusual statement the other day.

At the union convention at Cincinnati, Lewis admitted right out in the open what a lot of people have known or suspected about the mine workers for a long time.

Some of the members were demanding more democracy in the handling of union affairs. Specifically, they want to elect district officers themselves, instead of having these key officials appointed by Lewis.

A couple of fearless union delegates urged that they be allowed to be Americans, that there should be a little democracy in union.

Mr. Lewis lowered and knit his eyebrows and spoke thusly: "Sure we believe in democracy. Not to the point, however, of cutting our own throats."

Mr. Lewis never uttered a more truthful truth. It is unfortunate that he was voicing a sentiment which is held by far too many people. They believe in democracy, in the Bill of Rights in the privilege of every man to pursue happiness.

But only as long as it doesn't interfere with him, or his group, or his organization.

This is the "yes, but" philosophy. There are no qualifications in the Bill of Rights. There are no yes, but's. And there are no restrictions on democracy. Our form of government can only be strong when it has large groups of turbulent minority groups fighting for advantage—and all other minority groups seeing to it that they have the right to fight, but preventing them from depriving any others from enjoying equal rights.

Democracy cannot survive in a hothouse atmosphere. It thrives on struggle and hardship and daring. Because once you put democracy in the hothouse, it no longer is democracy.

Unions, and church organizations, and veterans groups, and the Union League Club, and the Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers all believe in democracy.

Too many leaders in too many of these organizations, though, really believe in it the way Mr. Lewis does. Only so long as it doesn't result in any throat slitting.

The trouble with this philosophy is that when even a modest restriction on excessive liberty is imposed, it's misconstrued as throat cutting.

We all must learn sooner or later that this is a big, complex world, and if we're going to live in it together, peacefully, as nations, we've got to believe in democracy. Not just for ourselves, but for the other guy, the other nation, as well.

Next week is United Nations Week.

Phone Company Starts Survey For Beelerion

C. E. Hughes, local Manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. of Fulton, announces that they will begin canvassing the Beelerion area this week. It is expected that approximately 40 subscribers will want service, which will be served from the Fulton exchange. This project will complete the area immediately north of Fulton. There will be another step toward offering service to all the people that want service in Fulton and Hickman counties.

Curdin told a delegation of boosters of US 23 (running from South Portsmouth to Jenkins) that most of the improvements sought by them have been included in a five-year program of road construction previously approved by State and Federal engineers.

Are you worried about the future of your children... or yourself... or your family?

Do you have some pretty strong complaints you'd like to register with certain people?

Are there other people you feel deserve a lot of encouragement and applause?

Sure you do. Between now and November 4th you'll be arguing for and against a lot of candidates and political issues. So will we. And all of us will get pretty hot under the collar.

Because never has there been a more important election year. This country, from Washington down to every state, county and town, needs first class management in the years ahead.

This management begins with you. The foundation of our nation is the conviction that the people, all of them, possess collective wisdom and common sense beyond that of any man or group of men.

But this collective wisdom and common sense functions fully only when each of us contributes his individual bit to the total.

So register your own beliefs. There's only one place to do it. That's behind the curtain of the voting booth on November 4th.

KENTUCKY SUFFERING GREAT DAMAGE TO ROADS BECAUSE LAWS ARE NOT ENFORCED

Kentucky, with one of the Nation's best sets of laws to regulate freight hauling on public highways, is suffering greater damage than her neighbor states from this major source of destruction to roads . . . because of too little enforcement of these excellent regulations.

In Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia and Missouri, all bordering Kentucky, State Police and Highway Patrols are catching the violators and the courts are finding them, to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The roads in these states, like Kentucky's were built 20 or more years ago, in the main, and were not constructed to handle such loads as the huge highway boxcars now haul over them.

The damage would be great even if the law was enforced rigidly; but with little or no enforcement, as in Kentucky, the motorist public, which pays far more in proportion for the privilege of using the highways than do the truckers, is taking a far heavier licking than it should.

Virginia collected $980,000 from overloaded trucks, owners in one year (1951). West Virginia took $96,074.71 from such law violators, in fines, from July, 1951 to March, 1952. Ohio caught and fined 7,703 violators, for overloading, in 1951, and fined them $321,238. And the same is true in most of the other states, where Highway officials know that the big trucks "Are harder on the pocketbooks than on the dispositions" of their people.

Kentucky governors in recent years have said, on occasion, that they are proud of the State Police Department and its personnel; and perhaps they well might have been. But these officials knew the force was inadequate, numerically, to deal with law violations on Kentucky's highways. If the State's splendid laws intended to regulate big trucks on our highways are enforced, the money from fines could pay for a good many more State Highway Policemen. Or this money could go to the schools, as it does in Virginia.

There is no doubt in the minds of highway officials now that the big trucks are the worst enemies of roads, and the statement frequently is made that the highway boxcars are wearing the highways out faster than they can be built. Does it not follow that Kentucky should enforce the laws she has, to provide some measure of protection against this or any other state can afford?

GOOD HEALTH

1. ARE GALL STONES DANGEROUS?

Answer to Question No. 1:

The presence of stones in the gall bladder is not usually dangerous. When symptoms show the probability of gall bladder disease and the X-ray reveals gall stones, surgical removal of the gall bladder may be indicated. As a direct result of modern advances in surgery and the new drugs mortality from this operation has been reduced to almost nil.

Answer to Question No. 2:

In the United States more than 95 per cent of children under the age of 15 have some decay in their permanent teeth. Parents and school officials should watch the children's teeth much more carefully, and refer the children to the family dentist or existing dental clinics. This would definitely improve dental health.

2. HOW CAN THE DENTAL HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN BE IMPROVED?

Answer to Question No. 3:

Psittacosis or parrot fever is a serious disease easily transmitted to humans but rather rare in the United States. It is caused by a virus common in birds (mostly parrots), and shows itself with high fever which remains high for about three weeks. Mortality used to be about 20 per cent of those infected with the disease. Some of the newer drugs have greatly reduced the number of deaths. (Copyright 1951 by Health Information Foundation)

PROS AND CONS AND HERE IS

YOUR UNITED STATES

By Floyd Cramer

This is a very short column this week, because the most urgent message of the hour can be very briefly put.

Next Tuesday we go to the polls.

The Republican Party

The Republican Seed has sprouted and grew. In the simple minds of quite a few And many a man has gone plain sour and made up his mind to vote for Eisenhower.

They've promised a lot and they'll promise more. Let's look and see what they did before. Twenty years have passed and yet, Those Hoover days I'll never forget.

When Hoover was in, I lived on a farm. A dollar bill looked as long as my arm. I never saw a ten dollar bill. And if Eisenhower's elected I doubt if I will.

When Hoover was in, things really were tight. The Rabbits were scarce and the fish wouldn't bite. The men were too ragged to go anywhere. And women wore flour-sack underwear.

Remember man, when you cast your vote. If you vote for Eisenhower you'll cut your throat. Would you rather have a life of ease Or water, gravy and black-eyed peas?

Ever since nineteen hundred and thirty-two The Republican party has been in a stew. They've called the Democrats nasty names. But the banks stayed open just the same.

If Eisenhower is elected, I'll move to the farm. I'll plant some 'tators behind the barn. I'll steal my neighbors' roasting ears. And try to get by for four more years!

Do not fail to cast your ballot. It is your duty as an American, as a free citizen of the freest nation in the world, as today's heir of all our glorious past.

It is especially your duty to vote if you believe in free enterprise, because after all is said, a free election is the very essence of free enterprise.

And when free elections are possible to free men, as they indeed are in these United States, failure to vote is a betrayal of trust.

You may say: "I am only one man; what difference does my vote make? I am only a little fellow. What can I do?" My friend, let me refer you to the Book of Books, wherein we may read again the story of David.

David was only a little fellow. Israel was only a "little" nation. Goliath was a giant, and Philistia was powerful.

But though Goliath was a giant in armor, and David was but a young man in a simple shepherd's robe, David went forth.

And though Goliath was armed with spear and shield, and David had but a simple sling and a few round stones, David did what he could.

Without armor, without any weapon but a sling and a stone, David did not despair.

A small boy with a pebble faced a giant with mighty weapons, and did not stop to ask, "What can I do?"

He knew what he could do.

CLERK MUST GET BALLOT REQUEST

Interest in the coming November election appears high on the part of servicemen seeking absentee ballots being received at the Secretary of State's office, Secretary of State Charles K. O'Connell said today.

Personnel of the office now handle requests of upward of 100 ballots a day for absentee ballots—all of which are transmitted to the County Clerk where the voter is a resident. All requests must be in the hands of county clerks by ten days before the November election and the ballot returned by the voter to the clerk by election day, O'Connell added.

"While the law requires absentee ballots to be handled through County Court Clerk's offices, most military personnel use the Army blanks that are addressed to the Secretary of State and are then forwarded to the county clerk by this office," said O'Connell.

INSURANCE REDUCED

Commissioner of Insurance Spalding Southall announced a net reduction in material damage insurance rates on private passenger and commercial vehicles of $540,000 a year. There were slight increases in certain collision rates that will yield some $292,000 a year, but reductions in other classes totalled $832,000 — for a net saving to premium payers.

And he did it.

He hurled his pebble and Goliath was slain.

You, my friend, may feel that your vote doesn't amount to much, against the problems and evils you have to cope with.

But as David cast his pebble so must you cast your vote.

Tuesday is your day.

It is your day to stand up and be counted, and to strike your blow for the best interests of this nation as you see them.

Vote!

HOSIERY GOES OFF OPS LIST

All types of hosiery except those sold for surgical or corrective use have been suspended from price controls, announced Carl P. King, district director of the Kentucky OPS at Louisville. The suspension, King said, is an "across-the-board" action, suspending ceilings which have been in effect for manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers.

Hosiery on which price ceilings are suspended includes women's nylon stockings, men's, women's of all kinds and component parts of hosiery, such as sock uppers for slipper socks.

The action (General Overriding Regulation 4, Revision 1, Amendment 8) became effective October 7.

PADUCAH TO GET 2-UNIT ARMORY

Plans for the construction of a two-unit Armory at Paducah were announced today by the State Property and Buildings Commission headed by Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby.

The structure to be built in accordance with plans recommended by the National Guard Bureau will cost an estimated $185,000. The state has appropriated $46,250 as its portion of the cost and the remainder of the funds will be furnished by the Federal Government.

The Paducah site for the Armory was chosen because of the importance of the area in national defense.

SCHOOL CHILDREN RIDE FREE

Assistant Attorney General W. Owen Keller held that school bus operators—paid with public funds for their services—are not authorized to collect fares from school children, regardless of whether they are high school or grade school pupils. However, he held that boards of education might effect an arrangement with parents of children for pay in extraordinary cases but that such agreements are between the boards and parents.

FULTON CHURCHES PLANNING CENSUS

Representatives of six congregations met Monday night at the First Methodist Church to make plans for a community-wide religious survey on Sunday afternoon, October 26. Both Fulton and South Fulton will be included in the survey which has as its purpose an up to date census of church membership. The last census on a community wide scale was made by the churches in 1949 and many people have moved into the two communities since that time. The census of October 26 of the entire communities will eliminate the necessity for separate groups to make surveys for their churches.

The information gained by the census will be helpful to all the churches of the community in finding those of their faith who have not become members of local churches. The citizens of Fulton and South Fulton can be of great assistance to the groups making the survey by their cooperation in making the information available. The census takers will not be visiting to secure church members but to secure information as to church membership and preference.

The census workers will begin their survey about 2:30 in the afternoon of Sunday, October 26 and will appreciate the cooperation of all citizens of Fulton and South Fulton. Participating churches in the project are the Cumberland Presbyterian, South Fulton Baptist, First Christian, Nazarene, Church of Christ and the First Methodist.

Local Auxiliary Honors Guests

Friday night at the Rose Room of Smith's Cafe, the local USWV Camp and Auxiliary honored the department presidents of the USWV Camp and Auxiliary of Kentucky, Mrs. Weller and Mr. Wilson, of Louisville, and Mrs. Lee, past department president, also of Louisville, with a delicious dinner.

Mrs. Weller, who was present to make the annual inspection of the local organization, made a short talk. Mrs. Lee and Mr. Wilson also made brief talks. Mrs. Stella Ellis presided over the business meeting.

South Fulton FHA Officers Meet

The officers of the South Fulton FHA met at the home of their advisor, Mrs. Mary D. Guill, last Thursday night to make plans for this year's program.

Those attending were: Carol Lee Peoples, president; Betty Bowen, vice president; Artie Owen, secretary; Annette Conner, treasurer; Shirley LeCom, reporter; Dorothy McCollum, song leader; Doris Roberts, historian; Wanda Stephens, parliamentarian; and Thelma Counce, recreation leader.

Plans were made to have the following activities on the following dates: October 14, Weiner roast; October 20, initiation of girls entering the organization; and October 27, the Sub-District meeting.

DEN ONE CUBS HAVE MEETING THURSDAY

Den One Cubs met at the home of our den mother, Mrs. E. E. Williamson, Thursday afternoon, October 19. Denner Wayne Anderson conducted the meeting in the absence of our den chief, Butch Buckingham led the pledge.

Denner Anderson called the roll and collected the dues. We answered the roll call with a news item. We selected our theme song.

After inspection the meeting was closed with the living circle and saying the Cub Scout Promise. Roland Carter furnished the refreshments.

BILL OF HARRIS FORK

FOR SALE: a rake and hoe—very light. Also a lawn mower suitable for a lady and a 30 foot hose and a book on gardening that tells all on gardening. I am not going to have a garden next year on account of the high price of sun flower seeds, besides I notice that all my neighbors are figuring on having gardens.

This is a city of three hundred and fifty neighbors and what one does not have ones neighbors will furnish him. So why work? For instance—coming home from an extended stay up with the dam yankees a lady at the east end of the town learned we wanted apples to can and sent word to bring some baskets and come over which we did. She gave us two bushels and then dug up a lady to help her and they both canned two bushels of apples. That's what I mean by neighbors. Can you top it? These two gals were Georgia Robert and Sou Ellen Arnett.

No polio in this town, I guess the altitude is too high and too healthy. It is also very law abiding. We bought and fixed up a building for a jail and after a year and a half had to sell it because it never had an inhabitant.

We haven't any doctors here, a young doctor came here last week from Cincinnati and was looking for a house. We told him that there was hardly any use to stop here but to go to Fulton as that was where the headache were. That the only headache we had was out of towners running thru here at eighty miles per hour endangering the lives of our politicians.

Considerable talk regard an Airplane factory for jet parts going to be built here. And that this end of the County will go Local Option. And in this case there will be package stores and beer parlors aplenty. I hope the wimmin stay at home.

ment for the busy fire department under Chief Dawson and when asked how he managed to get the Army Band from Fort Campbell he smiled with a devious look on his face. He confessed however that he knew the commanding general at the Fort had a soft spot in his heart for disabled veterans, which Chief Dawson is, and that when told this fact the band was almost on its way to Fulton. No other city in the area had the extreme pleasure as did Fulton to have that accomplished group of musicians participate in Fire Prevention Week activities, unless it was Hopkinsville, which is located near the Fort.

JENNINGS KEARBY AND MRS. McLEOD HEAD COMMITTEE FOR CLARK BICENTENNIAL

Jennings Kearby, Fulton, and Mrs. Bertha C. McLeod, Hickman, have been honored by their appointment to the state-wide committee for the celebration of the George Rogers Clark Bicentennial Anniversary. They will serve as co-ordinators for the programs that will be held during the week of November 19, by organizations in this county.

The name of George Rogers Clark should be revered by every Kentuckian for those tremendous services that he performed to the state and nation in those days when the lives of early-settlers was at stake and the struggle for independence had just begun, they stated.

Many citizens of Kentucky joined in a movement to celebrate the two-hundredth anniversary of his birth. This movement was given state recognition when the Kentucky Legislature, in the last assembly, passed a resolution which directed Governor Wetherby to proclaim the George Rogers Clark Bicentennial Memorial Week including November 19, and to appoint a committee to plan and execute a program to memorialize the greatest of all Kentucky pioneers. This committee has been appointed.

Statewide organizations, and their local affiliates in this county, such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Women's clubs, patriotic groups, Parent-Teachers, and the schools, will join in commemorative programs during the week.

UNFAIR TAX BURDEN

The Railroads Pay Proportionately More Than Any Other Form of Public Transportation

By reason of the fact that railroads have built and paid for their own roadways, they pay a type of property taxes which is escaped by their competitors.

In 1950, state and local taxes paid by the railroads totaled more than $300 million, and took 3 1/2 cents out of each dollar of their revenue.

Easy For Competitors

Since approximately two-thirds of railroad investment is in roadway and structures, it may be assumed that virtually two-thirds of this taxation is ascribable to the fact that railroads provide their own roadways, and consequently represents a tax from which their competitors are virtually free.

The so-called taxes paid by other forms of transportation are, for the most part, partial payments for use of publicly provided and maintained highways or airports, and represent virtually no contribution to the general expenses of government or the services of public welfare.

Tax Figures Compared

Including these so-called taxes and also Federal income and excise taxes, payments in 1949 by certificated air carriers amounted to only about 4 cents per dollar of revenue, those of Class A and B inland water carriers to only about 5 cents, and those of certificated Class I common and contract highway motor carriers to only about 6 cents per dollar.

The corresponding figure for railroads was more than 12 cents per dollar of revenue.

Low Rate of Earnings

Thus the railroads pay in taxes more cents per dollar of revenue than their competitors and in addition bear the full cost of providing and maintaining their own roadways.

The fact that railroads pay heavier taxes, and that what is left from the railroad revenue dollar after paying operating expenses and taxes must support a much larger investment in necessary facilities than in the case of subsidized motor, water and air carriers, makes all the more significant the low rate of return earned by railroads in the five post-war years, when their return on net investment averaged only 3 1/2 per cent.

PUBLIC HEALTH TOPICS

Official notification has been received from the U. S. Public Health Service that on August 1, 1952, the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States proclaimed a state of emergency because of the rapid spread of swine disease known as Vesicular Exanthema.

There is considerable evidence to indicate that an important element of this sudden spread of the disease to swine is the feeding of raw garbage that contained infected pork scraps.

It is believed by Health Officials that if garbage fed to swine is cooked prior to feeding the spread of this infection as well as Trichinosis will be materially curtailed.

The disease, a serious enzootic disease of swine is considered to be nonpathogenic for man, but in swine the symptoms are similar to those of foot and mouth disease.

Everyone should make every effort to encourage the cooking of garbage before such product is fed to swine. Such cooking must be sufficient to insure destruction of the causative organisms and no uncooked fresh pork scraps should ever be fed to swine.

The State Department of Health in a regulation adopted for Extra Cantonment Areas and Recreational Areas, provided that no garbage should be fed to hogs unless said garbage has first been heated to at least 210 degrees Fahrenheit and held there at least 30 minutes in apparatus and by methods approved by the State Department of Health.

A special regulation has been adopted by the State Board of Health on the cooking of garbage at Tuberculosis Hospitals.

"MOLLY" KING SEES SWANKY CHRYSLER

Wilbur H. King, president of King Motor Company, Inc. of 111 Carr Street, returned Saturday from St. Louis where he attended one of a series of twenty-five nationwide meetings being held by Chrysler Division of Chrysler Corporation to preview the 1953 Chrysler.

"The new cars are the 'Most Beautiful Chryslers ever Designed,'" King reports. "They feature entirely new and beautiful body styling with long, low lines emphasizing the length and width of the cars."

King said that many new and outstanding features are incorporated in the 1953 Chrysler in addition to the proven mechanical features such as the revolutionary 180-horsepower V-8 Chrysler Fire-Power engine, full-time power steering, Fluid Torque Drive, power brakes and Oriflow.

"These cars, I am sure, will set the new highway fashion for 1953," King said. "They are the most luxurious cars Chrysler has ever produced and incorporated improvements which assure that they will be 'America's First Family of Fine Cars.'"

During the month of October, Chrysler's 3,500 dealers coast to coast will have attended similar meetings and previewed the new 1953 Chrysler.

Fulton High News

(By Winkie Voegell)

The week of October 5-11 was a big one for the students of Fulton High. It was the week we played South Fulton. During the week we had short pep meetings and all of our free time was devoted to making signs about the game for the halls.

Wednesday night we had a big pep rally in Carr park. There was a bonfire and also a dummy to hang and burn. After many yells, songs, and speeches by the team and coaches, we had a parade in decorated cars.

On Thursday night preceding the game the Fire Prevention parade was held in which Miss Kay Cherry, a student of Fulton High, represented Miss Flame of Fulton. Following the parade everyone attended the game at Memorial Stadium. We are all proud of the Bulldogs' victory but we must admit that the Red Devils had us worried for a while.

After such a thrilling week it was a great disappointment to have to come back to the old grid of book reports and six weeks tests.

VICTORY HOMEMAKERS HAVE PROSPEROUS WORK DAY

The Victory Homemakers have discovered that weaving seats for foot stools is hard work and rough on tender ungloved hands, but their unanimous decision is that the finished product is well worth the labor.

Ten members and three non-members worked all day last Tuesday at the Community building and nine stools were completed. These were in a variety of finishes—walnut, cherry, mahogany, and light mahogany, all beautiful pieces of furniture, adaptable to furnishings of any style.

Mrs. A. W. Davis, left Tuesday for Nashville to begin her duties as hostess in the St. Thomas School of Nursing.

PORK SAUSAGE AND APPLES STARS OF "KING-SIZE" BREAKFAST

By Marie Gifford

A good day starts with a good breakfast. Just serve this "king-size" breakfast to your family, and they'll treat you like the queen you deserve to be. Juicy sizzling fresh pork sausage links are teamed with delicious rosy baked apples to make a breakfast that's ample, easy, and packed with energy. What's more, the sausages and baked apples provide an unbeatable flavor combination. A choice of ready-to-eat cereals or hot biscuits adds a pleasing touch to a breakfast everybody will like.

Because the body has been without food for many hours, breakfast is the most important meal of the day. It should supply one-third of the daily food needs of a well-balanced diet. A complete protein dish for breakfast is a "must," for it is protein we need to build, maintain, and repair body tissues. The succulent flavor of fresh pork sausage makes it one of the most popular breakfast meats.

We're lucky that sausage is so popular, for pork is one of our best sources of thiamine—the vitamin so essential for steady nerves, good appetites, and all around well being. Begin the day with fresh pork sausage, and you begin the day right.

Don't let the time element prevent you from giving your family the good start they need for the day's activities. The sausage will cook thoroughly while you're making the coffee and setting the table. Start the sausage in an unheated pan over low heat and cook slowly, turning sausages once or twice and pouring off fat as it accumulates. Cook 12-15 minutes. Be sure to save the drippings for later use in hot syrups, griddle cakes, white sauces, and for frying eggs. Bake the apples the night before while you're preparing dinner.
